PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Tran has significant experience in litigation services including dispute resolutions, litigation matters, and fraud and forensic services. She has managed various engagements which require financial modeling, damage calculation, damage evaluation, and forensic accounting. Specifically, Mrs. Tran has developed experience in the following areas:

- Forensic and Investigative Accounting – Participated in internal investigations involving anti-corruption allegations (FCPA), theft of assets by insiders, conflicts of interest, and Ponzi schemes. The work included detailed analyses of historical accounting records, compliance with books and records provisions, identification of red flags, testing of transactions, tracing of assets and funds, evaluating internal controls, and conducting interviews of relevant witnesses.
- Loss/Damage Determination – Utilized financial models to project past and potential future damages in commercial litigation and arbitration matters such as breach of contract, lost profits, wrongful termination, business interruption, and purchase price disputes. The work included detailed analyses of historical and projected financial data, review of contractual obligations, substantiation of costs, review of underlying supporting documentation, and evaluation of adherence to Generally Accepted Accounting Principles.
- Intellectual Property – Calculated economic damages related to various intellectual property matters, including lost profits, reasonable royalties, and unjust enrichment.
- Bankruptcy – Assisted in various bankruptcy matters, including the analysis of preference claims, fraudulent conveyances, and solvency determination.
