Experience

Daniel Galante has more than 25 years of experience and has developed extensive transaction experience serving as an adviser to companies all over the world. He has been involved with more than 700 buy- or sell-side transactions for over 60 different private equity investors, hedge funds, lenders, and strategic corporate acquirers.

Mr. Galante provides transaction related diligence which typically includes a blend of commercial, financial, operational, and tax services combined in a manner to utilize the pre-transaction insights for day-one readiness, 100 day planning, and post-transaction value creation. His focus is financial diligence from an accounting and business perspective and he is a certified public accountant.

He has advised on a number of different type of transactions including: stand-alone platforms; carve-outs of business segments, product line or facilities - including stand-alone and stranded cost structures with TSA requirements; bankruptcy auction processes; mergers and industry consolidations. Target companies have ranged from start-up to multi-billion dollars in revenues.

Prior to joining BRG, Mr. Galante was the National Managing Partner of Transaction Services for Grant Thornton, Co-National Practice Leader for Alvarez & Marsal's Transaction Advisory Group, and a Transaction Partner at Ernst & Young.

Education and Affiliations

Mr. Galante is an alumnus from Harvard Business School and holds a B.S and MACC in Accountancy from DePaul University. He is a Certified Public Accountant in the State of Illinois and a member of the Association for Corporate Growth, American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), and Illinois CPA Society. Mr. Galante has spoken on various panels about transaction related diligence requirements and post-transaction value creation opportunities.
