

HURRICANE CLAIMS

FORENSIC ACCOUNTING AND INSURANCE CLAIM PREPARATION SERVICES

We have been retained in the wake of catastrophic storms, including Hurricane Harvey, Ike, Irma, Katrina, Maria, and Matthew.

Berkeley Research Group (BRG) is a world-class provider of forensic accounting and insurance claim preparation services to policyholders, commercial insurance brokers, and law firms. Our professionals have assisted clients with hundreds of property and business interruption claims around the globe totaling billions of dollars.

Our primary objective is to prepare credible, professional, and well-documented insurance claims, per the terms of the insurance policies, that lead to timely settlements. We have been retained in the wake of catastrophic storms, including Hurricanes Harvey, Ike, Irma, Katrina, Maria, Matthew, and others. Our deep claims and industry experience enables us to provide strategic advice and manage expectations throughout the claims process, and our fees are typically covered by the insurance policy.

While our professionals establish loss-accounting procedures, analyze detailed financial and accounting records, and develop financial models to prepare the property and business interruption claims, our clients' management can focus on caring for employees, serving customers, and rebuilding their businesses.

Hurricane Claim Experience

BRG professionals have been retained to prepare claims after Hurricanes Andrew, Frances, Harvey, Ike, Irma, Jeanne, Katrina, Maria, Matthew, Rita, Sandy, Wilma, and others. We understand and have analyzed the financial impact of major issues that typically arise after hurricanes including:
