Professional Narrative

Tim Mitchell is a Chartered Quantity Surveyor with over twenty years of experience in the construction industry. His project experience includes building, infrastructure, and oil and gas projects that have ranged in value from £250 thousand to more than £20 billion. He has worked on projects in Europe, Asia, South America, and Australia.

Mr. Mitchell is particularly skilled in presenting large amounts of data in a logical and accessible manner and drafting clear and concise reports. His broad experience and excellent technical skills allow him to identify the issues and quickly reach the heart of the matter. He has an excellent knowledge of Excel and database design and manipulation. His broad commercial and quantity surveying experience is supported by a degree in quantity surveying and an MSc in construction law and arbitration.
